

Discrimination: Avoiding Discriminatory Practices

Estimated time to complete: 25 minutes

Course Description

As the U.S. population becomes more diverse, so too, do our nation's workforces. Discrimination or harassment against an individual because of race, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, or other characteristics is against federal and state laws, and campus policy, and the consequences can be severe. SafeColleges' Discrimination: Avoiding Discriminatory Practices course will provide campus supervisors with best practices to manage a diverse workforce, avoid discriminatory behaviors, and create a school culture that embraces acceptance and respect for all.

Common Themes

- Review of the definitions of discrimination and harassment
- Understand practices to avoid discrimination and harassment
- Examine how to handle grievances appropriately

Author

Catherine Mattice, MA, is the President of Civility Partners, LLC, a consulting, training and coaching firm providing solutions to negative workplace behavior. Ms. Mattice is also the President of the American Society of Training & Development San Diego Chapter, and an adjunct professor at National University and Southwestern College.

Online Training Environment

SafeColleges is ideal for a blended learning environment, complementing in-service or video training, or as a stand-alone training program for your staff. The SafeCollege's approach engages the learner in an e-learning environment that can be accessed 24/7 from any Web-enabled computer, while a Compliance Management System automatically tracks user progress and compliance. The SafeColleges' system is proven to streamline the training process, saving your administration both time and money.

For a free evaluation, email info@safecolleges.com or call 1-800-434-0154.